

DAVID LANDEIRA

CV

SCIENTIFIC LEADER AT:

50 YEARS OF HISTONE ACETYLATION

BARCELONA CONFERENCES ON
EPIGENETICS AND CANCEROctober, 1st and 2nd, 2014, Barcelona

David Landeira, Head of the Department of Computer Science and Artificial Intelligence at University of Granada, Granada, Spain

David Landeira, Ramon y Cajal fellow at the Department of Computer Science and Artificial Intelligence at the University of Granada and group leader of the Epigenetics in Stem Cells Lab at the Centre for Genomics and Oncological research (GENYO) (funded by Pfizer - University of Granada – Junta de Andalucía) in Granada, Spain. Master degree in biology from University of Sevilla (Spain) and PhD in molecular biology from the University of Granada (2003-2008); lab of Dr. Miguel Navarro at the Instituto de Parasitología y Biomedicina Lopez-Neyra (National Research Council, CSIC) and fellowships funded by the Spanish Ministry of Education and Science and by the international Howard Hughes Medical Institute (USA). Fellow of the Maria-Bueno European program (CSIC-DFG, Germany) to visit the lab of Prof. Markus Engstler at the University of Munich, Germany. Postdoctoral stay (2008-2013) at the lab of Prof. Amanda Fisher and Prof. Matthias Merkenschlager at the Clinical Science Centre (London, UK); funded by a Career Development Fellowship by the Medical Research Council (MRC).

B-DEBATE IS AN INITIATIVE OF:

www.bdebate.org