
JOSEP MARIA LAILLA

CV

SCIENTIFIC CO-DIRECTOR AT:

EXTREMELY PRETERM BABIES. IMPROVING PERINATAL CARE

January, 16th-17th, 2013, Barcelona

Josep Maria Lailla, PhD. MD. Head of Gynecology and Obstetrics Department, Hospital Sant Joan de Déu, Barcelona, Spain

Dr. Josep M Lailla Graduate of Medicine and Surgery in 1971 at the University of Barcelona, with an award, "Cum Laude". Doctor of Medicine and Surgery in 1976 from the Autonomous University of Barcelona with the doctoral thesis entitled "Prediction of fetal distress, by studying the fetal internal environment". Professor of Obstetrics and Gynecology at the University of Barcelona. He has lead a total of 23 postgraduate courses, the most notable: "Pelvic floor "and" fetal medicine". Director of 14 Doctoral Thesis. He has participated as a redactor in 29 specialty books, 3 of them have been published in a country other than Spain. Co-editor of the book Obstetrics 5th edition. Elsevier Ed. Masson 2006, Co-editor of the book Essentials of Gynecology. SEGO 2009; has published a total of 145 articles in national specialty and 44 articles in international journals, 182 lectures and presentations at conferences, meetings, symposium, and participated in a total of 294 communications and posters at conferences in our field. President of the Spanish Society of Gynecology and Obstetrics (SEGO, Honorary President of the Catalan Society of Obstetrics Gynecology i (SCOG).

B-DEBATE IS AN INITIATIVE OF:

